“ My sister, Pat & I visited Karen in N. Carolina not long ago. She was so sweet to us, her cousins. it was like when we grew up in Jasper all those years ago! Pat has the same birthday (Feb 27) & I was the exception in this trio. Enjoyable, meaningful & so many memories with her. Now she's with the angels enjoying her heavenly reward. RIP kind soul!

“ Aunt Karen was really probably the truest thing I ever had to a Grandmother. I was fortunate enough to have 4 amazing aunts on my Dad's side of the family, all of which majorly impacted my life and all of which live in me today embodied in my actions and personality. I would give anything in the world to see the 4 of them together again along with my old man laughing and joking, those are the moments that defined what family means to me. I've lost 3 of them now, and I feel like it just gets harder every time. Aunt Karen happened to be the one I was blessed to spend the most time with, and she was also the one who I kept in contact with the most. Even now I was texting with her as recently as last week. Hell I've been receiving letters almost monthly from her since I left home for college. I cannot begin to put into words how much the loss of her resonates deeply within me, and the rest of my family. I will forever feel guilty for not managing to make it to Indiana more frequently to see you. All I can do now is pray that you're finding peace and you're finding the rest of our beloved family on the other side. If I could, I'd draw a little doodle on here like you always used to on the cards you'd send me. RIP to one of my favorite people in the universe.

“ My Aunt Karen was like a second mother to me growing up. She was always there for my brother and I whenever we needed. I loved our weekly Sunday dinners, piano lessons, and all of the times we had her over to the house. She was the first person to take me to see Phantom of the Opera on stage, and she always made sure to have the BEST collection of movies for me to watch when I would go to her apartment. Words can not describe how kind and thoughtful she was. She had the biggest heart for all of her family, and any animal that she came across. I know that she is no longer suffering, and now she can see my Aunt Diane, Aunt Janet, and my grandparents again. I hate that she won't be able to see me walk down the aisle, or buy our first house, or raise animals and kids on our own. But I know that she will be watching over me every day, and I will always be so grateful for the moments we had together. I love you and will miss you always.
