Adrienne was a very smart cookie, as she was inducted into the National Honor Society at JHS. I remember that night like it was yesterday; as our daughters became of age and went onto college. Hold onto all those great memories to sustain you! Rosie, Jay and Jenna Henriott

“ Bev, Larron, Michelle, Janelle, and family,

Adrienne and I first met when she become employed by Principal Wellness Company. We had a instant connection because we were both tall woman from Dubois County and no one ever knows where that is!

Over the years our paths continued to cross because of our mutual friends and passion for wellness and helping others. And even though, we didn't talk daily or even weekly, when we did interact the conversations were always easy and fun.

She is truly a special person and one that I'm proud to have called a friend. Adrienne's beauty, love for life, infectious smile and ability to talk to literally anyone will never be forgotten!

May your family be comforted with the fact that you were blessed to have known and loved such an amazing person! May you never forget her outgoing, silly and fun personality. And may God grant you the ability to mourn with a tear and a smile because you know she lived her life fully. She now sits beside her maker, smiling down on us!

Heck, she probably pulled him up for a polka dance! :)

Rest in peace pretty lady!

“ Dear Beverly and Larron,
My heart and prayers go out to you and your family on the death of your beloved daughter Adrienne. Your neighbor Beverly told me about the tragic news last Saturday when she came to Mt Vernon. Your daughter was very beautiful and I enjoyed getting to know her a little bit when I was at St. Joe, Jasper. Unfortunately, I am in Charlotte, NC visiting my sister in Saturday so I am not able to participate in Adrienne's funeral. But I wanted to assure you of my deepest condolences and my prayers during this very sad time and in the weeks and months ahead.

My sister and brother-in-law lost their only daughter Carri in a car wreck in 1999 at age 23. There is nothing more horrible than having to celebrate the death of a child (no matter how many other children you may have) whose love you brought into the world.

May God bless you and comfort you at this time and in weeks and months ahead with the hope that one day you will be with Adrienne again in heaven and enjoy her love and friendship forever. I know these words may ring hollow now in your grief but this is the great hope we receive in our risen Lord.

I love you both,

your former priest and friend, Fr. Jim Sauer

P.S. What a beautiful picture of Adrienne so full of life. Now she is filled with more life than she had here on earth. God Bless you all.

“ Adrienne radiated joy, self-confidence and a passion for life that was infectious. She was a student in one of my IU-Bloomington graduate courses and immediately distinguished herself as an outstanding student with great intelligence and unwavering integrity. Later in her MPH program I had the honor of working with Adrienne on a research project funded by Dean Torabi. During pre-study conversations and "data crunching" sessions she provided invaluable insights about the young families we were working with. She held the project together and provided leadership to members of a diverse team. Adrienne and another graduate student created three beautiful stepping stones for my garden with "Grow," "Thrive" and "Teach" embedded in the center. I will continue to display these beautiful works of art and think of Adrienne every time I journey into the flower garden. May Adrienne's family and many friends find peace recalling joyful memories of her amazing life during this time when our hearts are burdened with grief.

“ I was fortunate enough to meet Adrienne through our shared interest in the Wellness Council of Indiana. We served together with a common goal of impacting the lives of others. She did just that in so many ways. She lit up every room she walked into and was an inspiration to many! I will continue to keep her family and loved ones in my prayers. Please know she was loved by many. My heart is heavy for you all.

“ I had the pleasure to work with Adrienne through her work as the Fit for Life Program Manager for Eli Lilly. Although I did not know Adrienne well on a personal level, she had an impact on me. Just as I've read many others saying in their memorial, she was just one of those type of people who made your day better for having interacted with her. I am with a heavy heart right now at the thought of a bright light being taken so young. My thoughts and prayers are with her family.

“ Adrienne was a regular guest presenter in an IU class where professionals were asked to visit and "give back" to those behind her. Last spring she gave the following "unsolicited advice" to future professionals:

If I knew then what I know now; I would:

Realize the gift you have by your career interests and lifestyle habits.

Start your contact base now. Get comfortable with networking...and don't be afraid of it.

Use every opportunity as a learning experience, especially mistakes, because everyone makes them.

Accept feedback, even negative, as an opportunity to improve yourself.

Find a coach/mentor...and be coach able.

Be genuine, authentic, humble...and honest.

Appreciate college for what it is, a time to learn...especially outside of the classroom.

Ask for help. Learn about yourself---figure out what your strengths and weaknesses are.

Embrace your circumstances, even if they're not perfect. (AKA, first jobs...)

Seek out opportunities to build your resume, even if it means sacrificing sleeping in on Fridays.

Rest in Peace, Dear Adrienne; you will be missed by many of your fellow classmates and professors at Indiana University.

“ I got to know Adrienne during her short time with the Wellness Council of Indiana. It was a blessing to be around her as her passion to see people engage well habits was infectious. It was very obvious that she lived her passion and exhibited it in her daily walk. Perhaps the biggest differentiator was her relationship with Jesus Christ. My deepest condolences to her friends and family and may the memories of Adrienne continue to be a blessing to you all.

“ It was a pure joy to work with Adrienne. Her passion was contagious. Her sense of humor completely in tacked. However, I was never, ever able to teach her the fine art of the comeback line of an well timed comment.

She said to me one of the nicest professional compliments anyone could have made when she came to work for me in 2012, "I have learned more from you in 3 months than I learned in the last two years of school." To which I replied (please remember my comment about her not being able to have a comeback) "That would mean so much more if your education was not from IU!" She stood looking at me speechless, with that "I really want to punch you" look on her face.

You are and always will be part of my family, Adrienne. You say I taught you a lot...you taught me a lot too!

“ Heartbroken in Hawaii.

My heart is colossally heavy. Tears fill my eyes as I make an effort to type this.

Although I never met her in person, when she took over the Be Well Champion group for Healthways, her passion and vibrancy over the phone and in our group meetings was infectious and contagious!

And I LOVED it! She fueled my passion!

This is just so difficult to comprehend especially since Hawaii is so far away from Healthways corporate offices.

Even though there was such distance between us and we never met in person, she touched my heart, soul and life making an indelible impact forever.

I'm just so sad.

Please, if anyone feels compelled to share my words above at her life celebration, please do, since I am not able to be there.

One of my favorite memories with Adrienne was when we attended a wedding together where we both wore almost identical blue dresses. “ *We had the pleasure of working with Adrienne for two years. Describing her as a "bright light in this world" is very accurate. Always smiling, and she was unique in that she was generally interested in other people -- not just helping them, but listening to what they had to say. I remember telling her something about myself and she said, "Ooh, tell me more about that!" I was just struck at how novel that is in today's world.
