“ While I wasn't really friends with Alyssa during high school, she was one of those people everyone knew and there wasn't a bad thing you could say about her. You could see her smile and dimples from a mile away. I just found out upon reading the obituary that we were distant relatives. My grandfather is William Matthews and Charles was William's father's brother. I'm saddened by the fact that I didn't even know we were family. Maybe we would have been closer during school if either one of us had known. I send my deepest condolences to Alyssa's parents and close friends.
