“ I remember Angela in school. One of the memories that stays with me the most is one where i felt really bad for her. We were sitting in the 5th grade class at northeast dubois grade school. Angela had a very small stuffed animal/doll toy sitting on her desk. The teacher and child bully, roberteen harris spotted the toy and launched into an attack, berating and insulting her in front of the class. I was roberteens harris's main target in the class for bullying that year, so i knew how it felt to have to be bullied and belittled by her.
