Tribute Wall

“ While at a time in my life, this Woman was my Mom. Though she was not my biological mother, I still considered her Mom. For a little over 22 years I called her that whenever I entered her home. I would sound out MOM first thing and she would smile and greet me by my first name. Change happens in families as it did with mine and I hadn't seen Mom for many years. Then a few years ago I went to visit her while she was Convalescing. Dad had already passed and she was by herself that day. Her eyesight was dim and right away I blurted out, Mom! She looked over my way and said,, Jooeee? I said yes Mom, it's me. I missed you so much and I found the moment to see you. We talked awhile and I told her I Loved her and thanked her for being her with all she's been through in this life. I never attended the funeral nor the burial and I hope my past 1 time family understood. Life is fleeting and it does come to an end. This Woman had a good life and a rewarding one also. God has other plans for us though. I believe that She will definitely R.I.P.

Such a wonderful tribute to a woman you loved and admired. You were both blessed to have shared those 22 years on this earth. Family often doesn't mean you are physically. It's what's in your heart that counts.
