“ Frankie (and Richie) were my brothers from another mother. They had no sisters and we had no brothers so he was always looking out for us. Since we lived in Hessville he would often stop by to see my dad on some kind of motorcycle. The first one I remember was a motorscooter.

After I got my first car we would hang out at Pow Wow on occasion and shoot the breeze. Once in a while I would bribe him into going to Drive In Liquors for me for adult beverages since I was under age at the time. I asked one time if he remembered this . He didnt. Thats what big brothers are for!

Altho we didnt see each other much any more I always thought about him and would tell him I loved him on Facebook.

No doubt I will always miss him.

Frank made an impact on the lives of those around him.
