“ *I just heard of Heather's death from a friend that went to school with us. This news shocked me, I am so sorry for the family's loss. I know that it has been a few years now but I also know that every day without her is just like the first. I know that God is keeping you well and safe as Heather looks down on you. “ I found out about Heather's death about 2 months ago but i still cannot believe she is gone. Colin, Sylvia, Chelsea, Megan....I cannot begin to express the sadness I have for your loss. I suppose the only thing I can really do is grieve with you. It has been a long time since I last talked to Heather, but I am eternally grateful for her friendship. I have been thinking about you guys a lot lately and just wanted to let you know I have been praying for you. Rex

“ It's been over a decade since I talked to Heather, but she and I were best friends in elementary school. We had class together during first and second grade, and we were inseparable. I remember going to each others' houses and playing house or school or pretending we were princesses. My sister and I were just talking about a "play" we directed and video taped. I live in the Owensboro, Kentucky area now...after moving to Illinois the summer after 2nd grade...and to me it is was a message from God that I even saw her obituary in Sunday's paper. I will always remember our elementary-school recesses together and the time we spent at each others' houses, and I will miss her smile. Thank you, Heather, for being a friend, and I will see you again some day. ~Elizabeth LaGrange Muster

“ Heather may no longer be with us here, but she is forever in our hearts. The impact she made on the lives of those who knew her is so grand, that no one will forget her. I know my memories of her will forever be cherished. Knowing Heather she is in heaven right now spreading love and joy to all. I find comfort in knowing that she is no longer suffering here on earth, and that she's able to breathe a breath of new life. I like to believe that Heather would probably make a face, tell a joke or something to lighten the mood - she wouldn't want the sadness, she would want the laughter and the celebration of her life on earth and her new life in Heaven. May we all find comfort in her smile that will forever remain engraved in our minds and hearts...knowing that we will see that smile again when we join her in Heaven.
