“ Martha,
My sincerest condolences to you, your sister and brothers on the loss of your mother. No matter how ready she may have been to go "home," it is still very difficult to give our parents back to God. You were very young when you lost your dad, and I well know how much you must still miss him. I will hold you and your family in prayer. I can only imagine your mother's joy due to the glory and the awesome moment that she experiences upon seeing the face of God while being reunited with your dad. My love to you always and especially at this very difficult time.
