“ *Hi Lisa. I've never met you but I heard Kevin's name on the radio. I am 44 and I lost my husband in March to lymphoma. I just wanted to offer my sympathy and to let you know you could contact me is you need someone to talk to who has also lost a spouse. Working through my grief and adjusting to a "new normal" has been the most difficult thing I've had to do during my lifetime, but I keep praying to God for healing and comfort. I receive daily emails from an organization called Grief Share. You can sign up on their website at www.griefshare.org. They also have good books. One of my favorite prayers from the emails I've received so far is: "Lord Jesus, sometimes I feel like my grief will never end. Show me patches of sunlight in my life today that will spur me on with a healing hope". Please take care of yourself and may God bless you,
