“ It is with feelings of both sorrow and joy that I note the passing of my brother Mark. Mark was always a good and decent man in an imperfect and often cruel world. In the later years of his life, he endured a great deal of pain and suffering always without complaint. I feel sorrowful because Mark is no longer among us. But, at the same time, I feel joyful because I trust that he is in a better place now. Mark's most precious and enduring legacy is his four wonderful sons and their families, of which he was justifiably proud.
