Thank you Melanie for bringing Abigail to Becky's funeral. You, Abigail, and her Grandmother made the day even more meaningful. Becky loved Abigail as if she were her own. Thank you for allowing Abigail to become such an important part of Becky's life.

Ruth, it's amazing how things all come together. When I was on maternity leave with Abigail, my original planned daycare closed and Centenary took most of the families if we wanted to transfer there. They also took some of the caregivers when they closed, and thanking God they did because Miss Becky was one of them! When I left my first born Abigail with her at 13 weeks of age, I was sad but never did I feel worried. The night before the funeral I searched for everything I could find to help Abigail with her feelings of Miss Becky as I knew Thursday was going to be extremely hard. I found a small 4 page handmade booklet from our one and only, Becky that was from Abigails first day at daycare. She had taken pictures and pasted them with a synopsis of what she was doing in each picture and gave it to me at the end of the first week. And 2 fully filled photo books with 4x6 pictures on my first mothers day that she had taken of Abigail from the time she started up until mothers day and again put words with every picture. These are treasures I will never forget, and never take for granted as she was there for my Abigail helping raise her with George and I for many years. We loved her as our own and we're glad that your family welcomed Abigail with open arms always. Miss Becky spoiled her rotten with so much love! We miss her very much.

“ Becky was the first person I met on the first day of my first job as a hairstylist over 40 years ago. I learned a lot from her. She was always a good friend. We shared many good times and some not so great times. Thank you and I will miss you, my friend.

I met Becky through my friend Joanne. She had the prettiest smile, and always so friendly! I really enjoyed being around her. My best memories is of the three of us when she and Joanne worked together in Joannes home beauty shop!
