“ I am Scott's fiance Amanda Libby age 37. We were together for 3 years. He was the most loving man that i ever had met. I still feel like as if i am stuck in a bad dream. I know i would never love a man as much as i loved him. We had alot in common and there were nights we cried and held eachother. Despite of the ups and downs, we held on so long cause WE were truely soulmates. When i was in a Rehab in Henderson.. He finally asked me to marry him. I was so blessed with his love. December 18th 2012 was the last he called my cousin leaving a message if i were to call.. to tell him when my weekend visitations started so he could come see me. He would be so angry and upset if he knew bout his family not letting me come to the services. Thats ok because they cant take away his memories, his spirit, and unconditional love we still have for each other. God said do not judge.. and i don't. Scott my love i will come to the burial and the place where you were taken from us. and lay down flowers. Scott.... you will Always be my Guardian Angel like i told you...And you always have been. I love you deeply and forever. Your Loving Fiance, Amanda Lynn Libby

“ *Jerry and Linda,
We wish to extend our sympathy to your family. This happy season has become a sad one for you. God had other plans for Scott.
We will keep you in our prayers.
